

Sample Hair Analysis

Dr. Hull has performed hundreds of hair analyses both online and through her nutritional practice. Below are two case studies illustrating the importance of the hair analysis:

Case Study One

Andy, a vegetarian his entire life, was suffering from mercury poisoning in his bloodstream, but was unaware of it. Having done a hair analysis on Andy, Dr. Hull was able to identify the root of his health problem as mercury from fish. With the information the hair analysis provided, Andy now knows how to adjust his diet and respective supplement program to achieve optimum health.

Case Study Two

Donna lived on military bases most of her life. She began having health problems, yet no doctor could figure out why. After having a hair analysis done, the root of her health symptoms surfaced. Donna had been exposed to radioactive metals from nuclear storage facilities, and the metals were still within the tissues of her body. Once identified, Donna was able to remove the toxic metals and restore her health permanently.
